

Call for Submissions

Official journals of the Remote Sensing and Photogrammetry Society

THE REMOTE SENSING AND PHOTOGRAMMETRY SOCIETY encourages contributors to its Annual Conference (and other meetings) to consider submitting extended and/or modified versions of their conference papers or presentations for possible peer-reviewed publication in The Photogrammetric Record or the International Journal of Remote Sensing (IJRS).

However, the Editors insist that any submission is not a repeat of material already included in conference proceedings, but is an extension or modification of the work previously presented. The submitted paper must explicitly cite the conference proceedings publication and a covering message to the Editor must include an explanation of the difference between the conference paper and the version submitted to the Record or IJRS. If accepted for publication, the connection with the authors' presentation at the RSPSoc Annual Conference (or other meeting as applicable) will be noted in the published version. Prospective authors may find it helpful to be guided by this information when compiling conference papers in the future.

Submit to The Photogrammetric Record

Authors submitting material to The Photogrammetric Record should also follow the detailed guidance in Hints to Authors published in each issue and on the RSPSoc website (<http://www.rpsoc.org/publications/the-photogrammetric-record/>). They may also wish to note the content of the Editorial published in The Photogrammetric Record 21(116): 309–311 (December 2006).
