

Heights & Flights

Learning and Teaching with Landmap

Copyright © The GeoInformation Group 2008

Time: 10.30-16.00

Venue: University of Leicester

Registration: the workshop is free lunch will be included but places are limited

Financial support towards UK travel is available

Friday 26 March

Landmap is a JISC Spatial Discovery service which provides access to and support for a range of satellite, airborne and feature datasets. The Landmap Service in the past year has focused on supporting the use of spatial data by providing online courses and learning and teaching materials through a new Learning Zone which caters for students/researchers and teachers/lecturers.

This workshop will introduce the new Learning Zone facility via a mix of presentations and 'hands on' practical sessions. Academic staff who wish to use the materials for teaching are particularly welcome to attend.

More details and registration:

<http://landmap.mimas.ac.uk/index.php/Support/Future-Events/Obtaining-GeoKnowledge-Workshop/menu-id-100213.html>