

Call for Papers

Papers will be presented orally and by poster. Both are considered of equal standing and no distinction is made between them in the proceedings. Authors who prefer a poster presentation should notify the organizers.

Abstracts for the Symposium should be submitted using the website interface, available at:

<http://www.earsel.org>

A submission of manuscripts for publication in the open access journal EARSeL e-Proceedings is particularly encouraged:

28th EARSeL Symposium and Workshops

Remote Sensing for a Changing Europe

Presentations can be related to all fields of geoinformation and remote sensing applications and especially to those listed below, since sessions will be organized according to these topics:

- ⇒ Geoinformation and remote sensing
- ⇒ New sensors and instruments
- ⇒ Image processing techniques
- ⇒ Data fusion
- ⇒ Imaging spectroscopy
- ⇒ Radar remote sensing
- ⇒ Land use and land cover
- ⇒ LIDAR
- ⇒ Urban remote sensing
- ⇒ Land degradation and desertification
- ⇒ Hydrology, land ice & snow
- ⇒ Coastal zone
- ⇒ Forestry
- ⇒ Agriculture
- ⇒ 3D spatial analysis
- ⇒ Remote sensing for archaeology and heritage
- ⇒ Time series analysis
- ⇒ Hazards and disasters
- ⇒ Education and training
- ⇒ World Heritage
